BRETAGNE

Biotechnologies (bioproduction, bioevaluation, omics...) play an increasingly important role in cosmetics. COSM'ING, the leading event in the field of cosmetic ingredients and biotechnology, invites you to discuss the latest innovations on this topic during two days of conference and one day of B2B meetings.

This event, organized for over 25 years, offers a unique opportunity to update your knowledge, meet academic and industrial experts, and foster collaborations in a friendly environment.

This event COSM'ING comes back this year from 11th to 13th June in Saint-Malo (France). The organiser of the event; Biotech Santé Bretagne are currently building the agenda of the scientific conference.

A call for papers is open. For its 11th edition, the topics covered include advancements in the bioproduction of ingredients derived from marine, plant, or microbial resources, the concepts of holobiont, phages, and microbiota, as well as the contribution of biotechnology and IA for products development and their evaluation.

Take advantage of COSM'ING to present your work to an audience of academic and industrial experts, exchange ideas on the latest advancements, and contribute to shaping the future of research and innovation in cosmetics.

Do you wish to present a paper (oral or poster) at COSM'ING 2025? Then apply now and submit an abstract before January 24, 2025.
